I am delighted to welcome the delegates of the 6th International Conference under the theme—"Seeking Ways for Economic Cooperation Among the Nations Along the Silk Roads"—held in Daegu, Korea from May 29th through June 2nd of 2008.

We have had our previous five international conferences in Uzbekistan (2003), Korea (2004), Mongolia (2005), and Kyrgyzstan (2006).

"Seeking Ways for Business & Economic Cooperation among the Nations Along the Silk Roads" welcome all researchers and practitioners from nations along the Silk Roads as well as professors and regional government authorities of Korea to our Conference; let us stay open minded and enjoy our international multidisciplinary forum in the company of new friends and colleagues.

I also want to express my gratitude to all of those who have made this conference happen. My heartfelt appreciation goes out to the professors and practitioners who will be presenting their papers during the conference. I also want to thank the President of Yeungnam University, and Governor of Kyungbuk Province who have supported us both administratively and financially. It gives me pleasure to mention collaboration with the Korean Association of Industrial Business Administration, Daehan Association of Business Administration, and many other academic organizations as well as other corporations such as Lotay Saehan and Samsung Electronics which have contributed to the Conference.
